Əlavə informasiya

As a programmer, I have gained a solid expertise in Python, working with frameworks like Django and Django Rest Framework (DRF) to create powerful and efficient web applications. My expertise also extends to JavaScript, where I excel at using libraries like React and Redux to build dynamic and user-friendly front-end interfaces.

In addition, I have a strong foundation in HTML and CSS, which I use to create beautiful and responsive web pages. I have also expanded my skills to include proficiency in Power BI, through which I create insightful reports, dashboards, and visualizations that help organizations make data-driven decisions.

I'm passionate about programming, and I'm always eager to learn new technologies and techniques to enhance my skills. I'm excited to work on challenging projects and contribute to the development of innovative software solutions.
