About Me: career goals – I would like to be team lead in company where have young brains, young who want to achieve smt in life and help them to progress. Maybe convert this in business for myself because in my opinion when you're engineer with 20 years of experience you can get bored and you should make it interesting for you and helpful for society. In life I stick to one – I have my ups and my downs like anyone. All I can do is be me
